

LITTLE MYRA HAWKINS CELEBRATED 1st BIRTHDAY—

Little Myra Hawkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hawkins, celebrated her first birthday on Friday, July 17, from six to seven o'clock at her home.

Games and story-telling were directed by Mrs. Ed Hornby. Later in the evening ice cream, cake, candy, chewing gum, kool-aid and balloons were served to the following little girls and boys: Tony, Lela Owen and Lela Diamant, Doris Tillman, Annie Jim Dor-man, Ella Wilkerson, Laine Vaughan, John Hudson, Annette Reddick, Bettie and Shelle Ann Wise, Fred Tillman, Jimmy Pe-ly, Ruggie Worley, Owen and Er-sine Ziglar.

BRINGS TWIN TOMATO

Mr. J. D. Farris, farmer of the Bradshaw community, was in El-ba, Tuesday and brought as a twin tomato which was found in his garden last Sunday. The tomato was extra large and both were well developed to have grown from one stem.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Yates an-nounced the birth of a baby daugh-ter on July 12 at the Enterprise hospital, whom they have named Nancy Allen.

Mrs. W. J. Lee who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Wise, Fred Tillman, Jimmy Pe-ly, Ruggie Worley, Owen and Er-sine Ziglar.

Staff Sergeant and Mrs. Dewey Weeks, of Egin Field, Valparaiso, Fla., are the proud parents of a nine-pound boy, born July 19th, whom they have named Dewey Michael. Mrs. Weeks and son are at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brown.

J. P. Philip and Kay Jones, of Mobile, are visiting their grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Jones, of West Elba.

Sewerage Assessments

Against Property In Elba, Alabama

Previous notices have been given to property owners by the Elba Exchange Bank and the City of Elba informing them that the sewerage assessment against their property was due April 1st, 1942, that this bank held bonds from the City covering all property and that payments thereon could be made over a period of ten years.

This bank does not wish to add additional ex-pense to your assessment, but the bonds in hand give us the right to foreclose on your property if the indebtedness under the bonds held by us is not paid together with interest as specified in the bond.

Please take notice that those who have not paid their assessment are requested to do so at once, or give cause why we should not take legal steps for the enforcement of this debt. The inter-est and one-tenth of the principal of your debt must be paid at once.

Please report to City Clerk at once, otherwise foreclosure proceedings will have to be started against those not paying or giving satisfaction thereto.

This matter is important and this notice is being given by the bank asking that you pay your assessment now.

THOLOCOO BEACHES WILL BE IMPROVED FOR TROOPS

By Neil Fannin Hutchison
Strange news will soon be heard in the twilight along the shores of Lake Tholoco. The young red sun, seemingly setting in the placid waters of the lake, will no longer silhouette the small canoes of fishermen and motor-boats of racers. The twinkling legs of children will have given place to the sturdy limbs of young warriors as bathers emerge from the waters along the sandy beach.

Tholoco was closed to civilians June 17th and will for an indeter-minate period be assigned to swim-ming lessons and recreation for the soldiers of Camp Kucker.

The people of the surrounding territory gladly conceded the use of their most popular playground to the "soldier boys" for whom the best is not too good.

The change is another phase in the history of this old-new place, whose shores echoed to the call of the bugle for Confederate sol-diers in the days of 1860. Then, that its busy waters had been a factor in the building of a new town, the beach was the scene of Crittenden came with his family and one hundred slaves from the shipwrecked steamer, the Elba, which was built here.

At the mill wheat and corn were ground, rice was cleaned, lumber sawed and furniture made. Below the mill was a fishpond, regular supply of plantation food, and nearby was built the church at which whites and blacks both worshipped.

The old Judge and two of his sons joined the Confederate forces. Young Robert became a col-onel. The property remained in the family possession through a long period of succeeding years. Finally the Crittendens moved away. The lake at the mill be-came neglected, the dam broke, the waters drained away.

Back in 1936, when the Federal Government took over this vast area for conservation and recrea-tional purposes, the old mill site was chosen for the construction of an artificial lake. Large crews of workmen felled trees, cleared brush and built a dam. A tall, white, concrete structure, the other end of the 1,000 acres, where waters were cupped from the original streams.

When the lake was dedicated, June 6, 1940, 1,300 automobiles were parked along the shore-lakeshore. All South Alabama was there in gala mood. A pro-gram was presented and the In-dian name for Samuel Dale, noted Indian fighter (submitted by Mrs. C. Hutchison of Enterprise) was chosen by the judges.

Thus a noted warrior gave his name to the woodland retreat and it is fitting that soldiers should habit its shores.

The lake's only tragedy cen-tered about a young airman, son of a British cadet who was drowned when his plane fell into the lake last January. Perhaps his spe-cially winged way from this peace-ful spot back to "The White Cliffs of Dover" for Tholoco im-mediately gave his body back to his comrades.

The new plans as announced by Col. F. W. Manley, Post Com-mander, and Major Daniel Bens-cotter, Plans and Training Officer, are for two new beaches to be built along the west shore. One will be for the exclusive use of troops of the 81st Division and another for the exclusive use of the colored troops at the Janu-ari-Enlisted personnel of the First Air Base Security Training Group and Negro Station Complement troops.

Until the new beaches are com-pleted all troops will use the pres-ent beach on the east side of the lake for purposes of instruction in swimming and for recreation. An allocation of days for occupancy of the present beach has been made, based upon the present number of white and colored troops.

Plans specify that there will be no solitary swimming and bathing in Lake Tholoco except when lifeguards are on duty, or when an officer is present to properly supervise and safeguard their ac-tivities.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Foster and son, Joe, of Leeds, Ala., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brown.

Miss Louise Money, of Elba, R. 1, spent the past week with Misses Jean and Ellen Money at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Bradley, of Elba, R. 3. Misses Jean and Ellen returned home with Miss Louise for a visit.

AGRICULTURAL FILMS ARE AVAILABLE TO FARMERS

Haygood Patterson, Commis-sioner of Agriculture, has announced that the Department has filmed during the past three and one-half years 15 motion pictures. These pictures in natural color were made for educational pur-poses and show the activities of the department of agriculture.

The pictures are shown free of charge as a public service of the State Department of Agri-culture and are available to any group. Request for a showing should be made at least a week in advance.

Mrs. J. A. Carnley, Jr., and son, Jeff, are visiting relatives in Cul-ma and T ucaloosa.

Mrs. Eris Paul has returned from a visit to her parents at Nottaliga.

Mrs. D. B. Addison and chil-dren, Wayne, are home, enjoy-ing the week with relatives in Enterprise.

Mr. Dan Murphree, of Birming-ham, spent last Thursday in Elba with his sister, Mrs. Wesley Har-ris.

Miss Jeanne Brunson spent the week-end in Tuscaloosa, guest of friends.

Miss Betty Spann, of Dothan, is visiting Miss Rosie Pat Rother.

To assure delivery of essential equipment to farmers, the War Production Board has ordered that products manufactured under its farm machinery and equip-ment program must actually reach the farm, and must not be delivered to industrial or other non-agricultural uses.

Leaving eggs in the nest all day or holding them in too warm a place causes spoilage. They spoil quickly in warm weather and should be marketed at least two or three times a week.

WAREHOUSE SUGGESTED FOR PEANUT STORAGE

AUBURN, Ala.—A partial so-lution to the problem of inade-quate storage space for peanuts in Alabama may be found in the use of cotton warehouses, says P. O. Davis, director, Alabama Extension Service.

In some localities, he points out, there is actually a surplus of cotton storage space, and where the surplus is large, the use of cotton warehouses in connection with the storage of peanuts a canvas of cotton warehouse fac-ilities is suggested.

In this connection the Agricul-tural Marketing Administration suggests that cotton warehouse-men storing peanuts should fami-liarize themselves with the be-havior of the peanuts in storage, as they differ from cotton. Plenty of ventilation is necessary. They must be thoroughly inspected to deter-mine whether they are in store-able condition, and then must be periodically examined for condi-tion while in storage.

FARMERS MAY STILL HAVE SEED TESTED FREE

There is still sufficient time for farmers to take advantage of the free seed testing service offered by the State Department of Ag-riculture. Farmers desiring seed tested for plant flailing by the State Seed Control Laboratory should bring their seed to the com-missioner's office, Room 15, De-cember 15 and November 15 to De-cember 15. Each farmer is en-titled to the equivalent of $3.00 worth of free service. Commer-cial rates beyond this amount will be charged.

The time allowed for testing farmers' samples is rather lim-ited and we suggest that those desiring seed tested during this period send them immediately.

Additional clauses represented by Loyal Phillips of Mt. Gilead, Ala., are being considered. The following suggestions in send-ing samples: (1) Send in seed samples only during the interval. (2) Do not write for an early report on samples, as samples are work-ing in order in which they are re-ceived in the laboratory, and a report will be mailed out as soon as possible. (3) Seeds should be thoroughly cleaned before the sample is taken. Samples should be the following sizes: (1) grasses, timothy and seeds of like size, one-half pound; (2) oats, vetches and seeds of similar size, one pound; (3) cotton, soybeans and like seeds, two pounds.

USDA EXTENDS COTTON LOAN TIME INDEFINITELY
AUBURN, Ala.—The Commod-ity Credit Corporation will con-tinue to carry 1941 cotton loans subject to the producers' right of redemption until July 31, 1942, the maturity date of the notes.

This will permit producers to repay their loans and obtain pos-session of the pledged cotton or to sell their equity in the cotton after July 31, 1942, in the same manner as prior to the maturity date of the notes. The loans have been extended for an in-definite period and producers will receive ample notification before any change in this extension is made.

HAND MEMBERS TO BUY WAR BONDS AT STAMPS
At the regular weekly meeting of the Elba Safety Bank, the mat-ter of buying war stamps and bonds was discussed. Each mem-ber of the bank pledged to buy at least one stamp each week. The bank, as an organization, pledged to buy one dollar's worth of stamps weekly.

The band as an organization pledged its services to aid in the campaign, which is being broad-ened at this time, for the collec-tion of scrap rubber.

Members of the band, as well as their leader, Mr. Almon Brax-ton, are to be congratulated for their patriotic spirit in aiding the war effort.

Messrs Cecil and Dan Fred-Preccott spent the past week-end in Elba guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Prescott.

Rachel Bricken is confined to her home on account of an attack of malaria. Friends wish for her an early recovery.

Miss Maggie Dean Clark has returned to Elba from a pleasant visit to Jackson, Miss, where she was guest of Miss Dorothy Mur-phree.

Club Members Are Now Feeding Twenty Calves

Fourteen additional pure breed beef calves were placed for feed-ing with the Coffee County 4-H members last week, bringing the number of calves in the feeding project to 20.

The calves were selected from the farms of some of the best cat-tle breeders in the Black Belt and were delivered to the Clubby pens in Enterprise. Interested members and their fathers met at the pens Thursday afternoon to draw for the calves and to hear Hugh D. Sexton, county agent, discuss methods of securing and financing calf projects, the feed-ing and management of calves.

The 20 calves are being fed as follows: Robert Wise, 3; Coley Lowrey, 2; Carl Baxley, 1; Dur-well Grimes, 2; Harold Dye, 1; Sarah Dye, 1; Joe Tom Dy-lis, 1; Roland Haines, 1; Junie Watson, 1; Helen Watson, 1; Donald Baxley, 1; Haley Bryant, 1; Clifford Thornton, 1; Charles Barnes, 1; Dewie Glimm, 1. Interest in the calf project is growing, according to H. T. King, county agent, who expects others to 4-H agent, who expects others to enter the calf feeding program soon.

CHARLES TALBOT WRITES ABOUT BOYS AT BARKELEY

Battery D, 137th F. A., Camp Barkeley, Texas.

Dear Friends Back Home:

Just a few lines from all of us out here in Texas. We all are doing fine. We hope all our friends and people back home are well. It is so pretty dry here. It hasn't rained in five weeks, so it is getting kinda hot, but we have plenty of breeze, but it is so hot it cooks your skin if you are not used to it. We are getting plenty tough. Some people say they can't stand hot weather, but they can if they have to. It won't hurt any one. It would do every boy on earth good to get a job with Uncle Sam and work awhile in the army. It's a job where you can't get mad with your boss and walk out and leave. You have to work to try to make his boss like you. It's a job where you can live in a tree country and to make all our kids that are coming up to always be free Americans.

Some people seem to think we will lose this war, but we ought not to feel that way. We are going to fight to the end, if it takes all our lives to conquer. We all would rather be dead than to be living under a man like Hitler. For under the Hitler rule we'd lose our four freedoms we love so dearly. But every soldier hear talk around here just wishes and hopes to live long enough to get a crack at him. I know every young man in the fighting age wonders what will be his future life? But the thing we want is to make this a free country. But we must sacrifice our lives to make this a free country.

We left here last Friday was a week ago and stayed out on the range for seven days. We were about 150 miles from camp. We were having a G. H. Q. test. It was very dry and dusty. We had good weather for it. The moon was shining brightly. We work hard to make a good grade for our captain, for we like him. He is a fine officer, and is good to all the men. We will stand by and fight till we die beside him. We hope we keep him through this war, for he is a captain who does not get afraid and go to pieces. He keeps a level head no matter what happens. He is not afraid of brass hats, and that makes it easier on us. But he doesn't take any foolishness. He means for every man to hit the line. We fired every day when we were on the test. We fired some at night. It was fun firing at night. Any one wasn't allowed to smoke or have any type of light, so when we got our guns set up and laid on the target we started firing. It looked like the world was on fire. We went almost seven days without pulling off our shoes, and when we got a chance to lie down and sleep we just crawled up under our pup tents. We worked all day Sunday, but it seemed like everyone worked with a good spirit and didn't mind it. We hardly realized it was Sunday. We had an observation plane working with us on this test. We had a radio operator up with him. He flew low, just above our heads sometimes; he could light most any place. Our gun we have now shoots a 6-inch shell. You know it tears up something when it hits. We are really getting ready fast to meet the little yellow boys across the sea. We may never have to make contact with them, but if we do, we don't mind giving them all we've got and let them know who we are. We are not going to take up much time guarding the boys if we ever get over there and capture any of them. It's lots cheaper to our government to roll them in a hole or leave them lying where you find them. Now, they may think the same about us. I never expect to let one stand guard over me. I'll fight till I die.

We don't have the best place in the world to stay but we fare pretty good. They are pepping up these tents now, making a nice little tent for the boys. There will be 20 to the tent. Now, all you mothers and dads don't be worrying about us out here, for we are living fine. We are really not getting hungry for we are eating up every sheep and goat. It seems like, in Texas, and if the Sundays would come regular we have more duck to eat, but I tell everyone when you feed anybody through the week on sheep and goat and duck for Sunday, if he don't get ready to fight it is not in him. We all have lots of fun eating these poor sheep and talking about it. We get plenty to eat. It is very interesting to go out on the ranches and talk to these old ranchmen. I call them oldtime cowboys. They wear high-top boots. One man owns thousands of acres of land and lives deep under a mountain in a little rock house. They don't have any timber. Most of the houses are rock and stone.

There are trainloads of soldiers coming through here most every day loaded down with tanks, guns and men. I mean they really got it guarded. Most every tank has guns on it and they are ready for action, with men riding in them to operate the guns if they have to. They don't take a chance. Don't you all worry about us.

Boys for we are feeling like we have to do a little fighting against the Japs. We are plenty tough now and working hard, looking forward to coming home and living with you all after we win this war. You all just do all you can on the outside to help us and we will be pitching it full speed in the army no matter where we may be, to carry this thing over. We are going to do our part to make us free Americans and we sure aim to do it if the sheep and goats, also ducks, last, for we get plenty of sheep to eat deep in the heart of Texas. Well, so long to all.

HILL SOUNDS WARNING: NATION CAN LOSE WAR

as high a standard of employment and wage scale as is consistent with the demands made upon all of our people for sacrifice and service, and in all respects, through services modern governments have adopted, to promote the welfare of our people, their progress, their happiness and their security," he said.

Alabama farmers have no reason to fear for lack of markets for their goods after the war, Gov. Nominate Sparks believes. He thinks giant cargo planes will enable the Southern farmer to peddle his perishable vegetables on Eastern markets when the war is over.

"Agriculture is one of our state's greatest assets," Sparks said. "Therefore, adequate facilities for all produce which our farmers are capable of producing should be studied and established."

Sparks aims to improve medical treatment by educating more physicians. "Too long have we neglected to provide facilities for the adequate education of physicians in Alabama," he warned. "I am convinced that one of the remedies is to educate our boys and girls in the profession of medicine."

In conclusion, Judge Sparks said that with such a conception, Alabama, along with the other 47 states, should march as one, with one objective, one purpose, one mind and one spirit to do the needed and necessary thing. The life which we have enjoyed so long must not be taken from us.

"I am sure," he said, "that the people of Alabama have highly resolved to give sacrifices and sufferings uncompensatingly. And then when it is over, provide Alabama an industry, agriculture, social order, employment facilities, form of government, educational advantages, social securities, to which our boys may return with pleasure and contentment and without fear."

GOV. DIXON was unable to attend the "War Council" meeting. He was with the Home Guard at Mobile. Senator Barkeley, who was invited, but business kept him away. Judge Leon McCord heard the two main speakers.

So that the same thing won't happen twice, the Alabama Press Association is trying to avoid a repetition of what happened in World War I, when there were 2,400 newspaper casualties.
